

I have built or moved into 3 new houses over the past 8 years. I was fortunate to have a great experience on my first house. However, Chris Ogden far surpassed anything that I have could have hoped for in a builder. The house was well built and the all important follow-up and attention to detail that he showed was outstanding. I never had any problem getting his help or advice even when it wasn't his responsibility at all. He returned to my house the first fall I was there and personally planted new flowers in my flower beds. My realtor who has lived and worked here her entire life had never seen anything like it. He is honest, hard working, organized, qualified, knowledgeable, committed to excellence and friendly. When I moved out of the house he built I specifically asked him about his other properties knowing that I would love to be in another Ogden home. I cannot recommend Ogden Custom Home Builders enough to anyone looking for a new home that will be built with outstanding quality, attention to detail and a builder that will partner with you before, during and after construction.
