

“Chris Ogden built our second home...and, if we ever move, we will ask him to build our next. Finding someone who you know you can trust can be difficult in this industry. It is without hesitation, I say Chris is honest, hard-working, and easily accessible. He makes the building process as painless and as enjoyable as possible. He and his contractors work to please, stay within budget, and achieve a quality that meets your expectations as well as theirs. Chris repeatedly walks the home with you making sure that you are pleased every step of the way. He will pay as much, or more, attention to the finest details as you, the customer.

We have lived in our home for several years now. As we walk through other new homes, we continue to appreciate the quality of the work in ours.

We appreciated our experience with Ogden Custom Homes and would highly recommend the company, and Chris Ogden personally, to anyone interested in building a home.“

Scott